Woodland & Land Management in the North of Scotland

Issue Number 8—March 2017

Leading in Quality and Cost throughout Scotland

New Improved Planting Support for the Highlands!

Payment in Excess of £6,000 per hectare Available

At the beginning of March the Forestry Commission announced a further increase in support for tree planting and fencing in the Highlands!

This is excellent news for all land managers as woodland creation will now be possible on many more sites.

Supports range from £3,000 to over £6,000/ha plus an increase towards deer fencing of £9.90/m.

The increased support follows industry requests for adequate support in rural areas of the Highlands.

Sylvestrus Ltd. was one of the first companies to create new woodlands in the Highlands under the new Forestry Grants during 2016. This also included the largest project for the entire Highland area.

There are now increased opportunities for many other land managers. If you have some land available which would benefit from woodland creation please contact us under treeman@tesco.net.

Projects will be cost neutral and provide benefits of shelter, timber, habitat restoration, landscape improvements and screening.

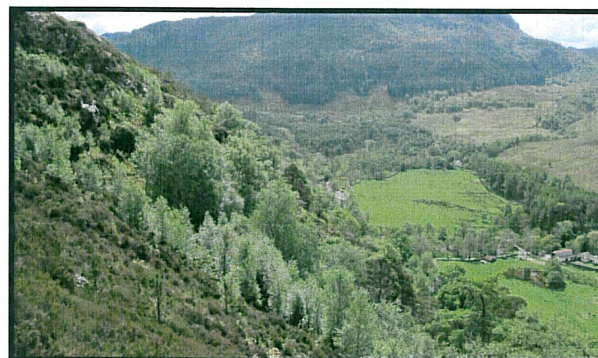

We will be able to advise you on the best solution

The Future for Forestry in Scotland is Very Promising

Timber production is predicted to increase and peak in the Highlands by 2025-30. Large investments at Norbord, Dalcross, Estover, Rothes and Balcas Invergordon are under way or complete.

Furthermore, the export of timber from remote places in the Highlands to Europe is possible again.

Sylvestrus Ltd. is able to utilise small broadleaved woodlands by direct marketing (firewood production) thus producing an income from otherwise negative operations.

All these factors are driving up timber income for owners and allow proper management of woodlands.

To ensure highest quality of timber harvesting and sustainable long term income call Sylvestrus Ltd. to assess your trees.
